Listening Activity: Matching - Match the columns according to how the subject affects the object. Answers are in the appendix.

Subject of statement	Matching letter (a,b,c,d,e)	Object of statement
1. condo owners		a) says the insurance premiums have gone up by about 25-35%
2. Joanna Coates		b) most insurance claims were because of broken dishwashers and overflowing bathtubs
3. natural disasters		c) are facing higher condo fees
4. condo owners' negligence		d) are partly to blame for the rising condo fees
5. prior to the flood		e) is a problem

Discussion: Why is having insurance important? What costs do insurance companies cover?

Language Focus:

Adding extra information to the subject

As you likely already know; “and” is a very common conjunction to use when adding on information about something. This language focus will look closely at how “and” is used and will demonstrate another word that can be used to add information: “also”

See how “and” is used to create compound sentence structures:

Example:

Story 1 - His name is Salman Ashrafi and he attended the University of Lethbridge.

Subject: The man in the story (Salman Ashrafi)

Information about the subject: His name and the school he went to

Now you try!

1. Look at the next sentence. Identify the subject and the two pieces of information about the subject. (Answers are in Appendix)

Story 2 - Lina Kattan is an associate professor at the University of Calgary and studies traffic patterns.

Subject:

Information about the subject:

The word “Also” and is another way we can include information in our speaking and writing. See the examples below and identify the subjects and information about each subject:

2. “Also” – Story 1 - His name is Salman Ashrafi and he attended the University of Lethbridge. He also had jobs with a variety of energy firms...

Subject:

Information about the subject:

3. “Also” – Story 3 - She says the premiums for insurance have increased by 25 to 35 percent. Coates says damage from natural disasters is partly to blame: a hailstorm in 2011, a windstorm in 2012 and last year's flood. But she adds that negligence on the part of owners is also a problem.

Subject:

Information about the subject:

Practice: Now you try to write some compound statements about a topic of your choice using “and” and “also”. Have a partner identify the subject and information about the subject of your sentences and see if they get it right.

Transcripts of Weekly news stories

	JUNE 6 TH WEEKLY NEWS STORIES	TIME
Introduction	Hi, this is Rosa Marchitelli . You're listening to Learning English with CBC for the week of June 6 th .	0:00
Story 1	CBC News has learned that a man from Calgary is believed to have died as a suicide bomber in Iraq. His name is Salman Ashrafi and he attended the University of Lethbridge. He also had jobs with a variety of energy firms, including Talisman and Exxon. Ashrafi is reported to have killed about 46 people in Tarmiyah, Iraq on November 7, 2013. It seems he went first to fight in Syria, then left with his group for Iraq. Ashrafi is not the first person from Calgary believed to have fought with extremist groups. He may be one of up to 20 Calgarians who have left the city to fight in a jihad in the last year or two. CBC News has also learned there are connections between some of these men. At least 5 of them lived in the same building in downtown Calgary and socialized together.	0:13
Story 2	Calgary's traffic congestion is among the worst in the country. That's the conclusion of a new report from GPS company TomTom. Lina Kattan is an associate professor at the University of Calgary and studies traffic patterns. She says Calgary's congestion keeps getting worse as the population increases. And Kattan says people will have to start leaving the car at home. The report suggests Calgary's gridlock is the fifth worst in Canada. Vancouver has the worst.	1:27
Story 3	Condo owners in Calgary are facing higher fees as the cost of insuring their buildings goes up. Joanna Coates is a consultant who works with condo buyers and condo boards. She says the premiums for insurance have increased by 25 to 35 percent. Coates says damage from natural disasters is partly to blame: a hail storm in 2011, a windstorm in 2012 and last year's flood. But she adds that negligence on the part of owners is also a problem. Before last year's flood, most insurance claims were because of faulty dishwashers and overflowing bathtubs.	2:10
